I feel the Morse Code requirement should be left in place for Amateur Radio. My reason for this is two fold.
1st-I have known some emergency situations where Morse Code was the only signal that could be sent/received clearly enough to get the message through.
2nd-If a person wants an amateur radio license bad enough, they should be willing to meet all the requirements, including the Morse Code portion.
I also feel that if the Morse Code requirement is dropped, the Amateur Radio bands will end up in a mess like the Citizens Band is in.   Thank You
